Our Republic Is Being Disintegrated

ALIENS TRYING TO DESTROY GOVERNMENT

l. to r. Gerhard Eisler, John Williamson, Ferdinand O. Smith and Charles A. Doyle

For fifteen years this administration has known that hundreds of dangerous Communists were working to throw us into confusion and destroy our government but no arrests were made. Finally, because of the force of public sentiment, a total of 65 Communists have been arrested during the last year. The four pictured herewith were held four days, the others only a day or two. All have been released on small bond.

Gerhardt Eisler, the leader of the Marxist spies, was given one year in jail and $1000 fine and released on bond (as were all others) to speak and organize revolution among us.

The Department of Justice is very weak in prosecuting those on the Communist side.

If there are some honest people with the authority, courage and desire to get at the heart of Communistic power in the United States, let them call in Benjamin Cohen (for years he had more power in the State Department than his superiors, James Byrnes and George Marshall), Felix Frankfurter of the Supreme Court; David Niles, advisor to President Truman, and Samuel Rosenman who now writes Truman's speeches as he did Roosevelt's.

Even these men, while being very important Marxists, are not the main ones.

Anti-Communists who oppose the administration are not only prosecuted but persecuted. Why? Robert H. Best, because he opposed Communism and accused the administration of tricking us into war, received a life sentence and ten thousand dollars fine. William Gerald Bishop, anti-Communist patriot, was kept in jail for six years without charges or a trial and was then deported to Austria in October of last year although he was an American citizen, born in Massachusetts.

During 1942, thirty leading anti-Communists and critics of Roosevelt were arrested and forced to come to Washington from their homes in different sections of the U. S. After five years of persecution, Judge Bolitha J. Laws, Chief Justice, dismissed this persecution as a travesty.

Leading Marxist, Rabbi Stephen Wise, Felix Frankfurter and Eugene Meyer, publisher, using FDR as the power behind the persecution tried to stamp these patriots as Seditious but only succeeded in bringing out the fact that they were patriotic Americans, strongly anti-Roosevelt and Anti-Communist. About a million dollars of the taxpayers' money was used to persecute and the defendants were impoverished. Two died from grief during the trial.

These were the blackest court proceedings in the history of the country. These defendants should be compensated by Congress with some of the money being thrown around the world to socialistic governments.

Such is our department of Injustice—run for and by the Marxists with stooges like Tom Clark, the playboy.

REDS WANT HATRED

Anatole Lunacharsky, the former Commissar of Education: "We hate Christianity and Christians; even the best of them must be looked on as our worst enemies . . . Christian love is an obstacle to the development of the revolution. Down with the love of our neighbor; what we want is hatred!"

RELAXATION OF IMMIGRATION RESTRICTIONS; YIELDING TO MARXISTS; FINANCING SOCIALISM WITH MARSHALL PLAN; DENIAL OF HELP TO SPAIN.

The New York Times Magazine Section for Sunday, July 11, contained an article by Chester Bowles entitled "Universal Training for Democracy." Above the article was quoted the following, lifted from the text:

"To meet the responsibilities confronting democracy we must train more doctors, dentists, teachers and scientists."

We have on several occasions dealt with this business of "democracy." It is well now to speak of it again. For the careful reading of most newspapers and magazines, not to speak of many books and book reviews, indicates a well-nigh universal campaign to tell the American people they live in "a democracy." It is screamed at us in headlines, repeated ad nauseam in texts, blared on the radio, sonorously intoned in Marches of Time.

There must be purpose in all this.

The fact seems to be—and this we have observed before—that this nation, which has what the Constitution of the United States describes as "a Republican form of government," is in process of being turned into "a democracy." And the barrage of references to the United States as "a democracy" as though it were an accomplished fact, simply camouflages and conceals the efforts of an extremely active group of people actually to convert our Republic into "a democracy"—that is, from a representative form of responsible government into a mobocracy, governed eventually by a dictator.

Do these pushers for "democracy" expect, by re-re-iteration, to succeed in turning our Republic into one of these "democracies"?

But, though they have made some progress, they haven't succeeded yet. And they won't, if Americans wake up.

"Democracy" and Socialism

Many of those who have watched events closely the last twenty years are now able to see what this word democracy means in the minds of those who are working hardest for it. It is nothing in the world but Socialism, or, as so-called British "liberals" call it, Social Democracy. As a matter of fact, the gradual accumulation on our statute books of those measures commonly recognized as socialistic, has just about kept pace with the intensifying of the cry for "democracy".

Back in the days when the United States was considered to be a Republic, namely from 1789 to 1933, the rights of private property and the advantages of private enterprise and private initiative were fully enjoyed.

Those were the years in which the pledge to the flag was written and regularly uttered in the public schools, that pledge "to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands."

In that period Julia Ward Howe wrote "The

Battle Hymn of the Republic"—not of "the Democracy."

In that period Jefferson, himself the father of the Democratic Party, rarely, if ever spoke of the United States as other than "the Republic." Other nations considered us a Republic. The South American countries, when they obtained their freedom a century and a quarter ago, called themselves "Republics."

And during all this time government confined itself to the duties of the government, of maintaining order, of conducting the post office, of dredging rivers and harbors, and the various things that were reflected in national budgets which, down to the year before the United States entered World War I, rarely if ever exceeded one billion dollars.

The Flowering of America

During this period the United States grew to be the richest nation in the world—rich not only in the goods and services produced, but in the volume of good will generally apparent, the degree of philanthropy practiced and the universal enjoyment of the blessings of liberty. Men who came here from other lands instantly noted that the American citizen walked more erect, was more independent. Those were the days when successful business and professional men were among the most influential in the community; when it was the ambition of youth to build up a business that would give employment to others, or to rise to leadership at the head of a great educational institution. Persons of achievement in all fields were the heroes of the period.

For 150 years the United States thrived as no other people in the world. The people knew the reasons for this; the glories of the American Revolution which had given us independence were sung in every school and college—and in every church, for that matter. And while America knew and remembered the causes of her greatness, she continued to thrive.

Enter the Internationalists

Then about 1933, roughly speaking, the internationalists got the inside track. From then on America and America's great history have been played down. Contempt has been poured upon those who believed in America first. (None of the people who talked this way poured contempt upon a Britisher who was for Britain first or a Russian who was for Russia first—that was somehow different.)

Internationalists organizations galore have been formed throughout the country; they appear wellheeled financially; they get most of the breaks in the news, radio, screen and theatre. In most of our educational institutions America is largely forgotten, so vital does it appear to those framing educational policy to discredit America and to play up the rest of the world.

The forces that have brought this about are the forces that took us into the war. They were responsible for the doctrines of unconditional surrender and the vindictive persecution of the German people, including the evil and notorious Nuremberg trials. They took us into the United Nations; are responsible for the formation of most, if not all, of the alphabetical agencies; produced through the playing of wily policy by the President of the United States the partition of Palestine with a Near East war which has followed as we several times predicted.

We have before us a pamphlet issued on behalf of one of the best known boarding schools in the United States—a school with a long record of educational and patriotic service to the country. Formerly this was an American school. But the Committee which publishes this pamphlet, have as their clear purpose the proclaiming of the school as a "school for world citizenship." Devotion to this glorious country is gone and forgotten. This school seems to think it has "graduated" to a wider field. In place of it there is a devotion to "world citizenship," whatever that means.

The conversion of this school's purpose can have but one meaning, namely, that the graduates are to be taught that their chief duty is to "the world"—that that duty supersedes the duty to America. They apparently are being trained to go right on throwing away the hard-earned and carefully husbanded resources of their own country. They are to acquiesce in all sorts of schemes that require the United States to pool its resources with other peoples, however backward, and thus to descend to the general level of their poverty. They are to forget the glorious history of their country and their country's accomplishments. They are to think only of the welfare of "the world" regardless of the welfare of the people of the United States.

All this is a fair inference from the reading of this pamphlet. It would seem this school has been captured by the internationalists. So, incidentally, have multitudes of other institutions of learning here in the United States. They have fallen for the propaganda which in its effect places America last. In no other country in the world has this happened—or could it happen—except when that country came under the clear domination of Marxist Socialism.

How is this internationalism exhibited?

First, in domestic affairs.

Immigration

Congress has been well-nigh overwhelmed in favor of relaxing our immigration restrictions, so carefully set up in the early 1920's, with a view to taking in as many refugees as possible from Eastern Europe. Incidentally, and to show the utter lack of thinking or the insincerity of the proponents of letting down the bars, many of the very people who advocate this stepped-up immigration also advocate a socialistic scheme for public housing on the theory that we have not nearly enough housing to take care of the people already here. They tell us ten million houses or apartments must be built in ten years.

Several groups, including the National Economic Council, have spoken plainly about immigration abuses in the United States. But the circulation of these statements has been limited. In Council Letter 189 we showed by Government statistics of births and deaths and the official figures of immigration that no less than 1,862,060 people unlawfully entered the United States between 1930 and 1948. These figures and other statements in Letter 189, so far as we know, have never been challenged.

In spite of the implication of the facts we published namely, that a conspiracy has existed which brought a million and a half, and perhaps several million, illegal, undesirable, immigrants into this country, the propaganda pressure was enough to force through a bill allowing 100,000 refugees to come in each year for two years. However, independent-minded men in Congress were able to put restrictions into the new immigration law which will tend to hold down the undesirable element; and another saving feature is that the Congress complied with the request of the National Economic Council to make a thorough investigation of immigration. Nevertheless, the campaign to reverse the stand of Congress is already under way.

"Anti-Discrimination" Laws

Another matter in which internationalist propaganda has made itself felt is in the current craze among "liberal" writers and commentators for so-called race equality—for a so-called Federal FEPC and for state anti-discrimination laws. These laws in effect attempt to force the majority to accept members of a minority. The whole scheme is of Communist origin and is designed not to create good will but will stir up friction. Neither Congress nor the legislatures of most of the States, however, have yet fallen for this

SONNET TO THE MODERNS

Close to a strange, uncharted shore
Our Ship of State is drifting now,
In waters new through which we plow
While clouds of menace loom before.
The Builders knew what storms might roar
About that mighty Ship, and how
Fell seas might break upon the prow
Of what they wrought in sweat and gore.
Ours now, to look to hull and mast,
To calk the spreading seam—to clear
Ali barnacles away—make fast
The sheets—and then—defying fear
Of raging gale and baleful blast,
Hold to the course of yesteryear.

LAMBERT FAIRCHILD

A problem of race relations does exist. It can be met in the Christian way of encouraging mutual good will. If the proponents of FEPC and kindred proposals were willing to be satisfied with moderate but steady improvements in relations between white and Negroes, Protestants, Catholics and Jews, such improvement would come about. But they are not so satisfied because their purpose (not that of course of all who fall in with and are deceived by these proposals) is to stir up friction and strife. For the accomplishments of these results, FEPC laws give superb opportunities.

Under the New York "Law Against Discrimination," it is now unlawful to ask a prospective employee if he has ever changed his name, and if so what his name formerly was. But the British, so often more practical and wise, have these very questions on their application blank for a visa to enter Britain! Perhaps the Labor Government will get around to omitting this embarrassing question soon!

"Federal Aid to Education"

Another instance of internationalist propaganda is illustrated by the clamor for so-called Federal aid to education. This scheme is brought forward allegedly to raise the standard of education in certain backward States; though as matter of fact every State in the Union is in better shape financially than the Federal Government and hence can better afford to raise its own educational standards. Federal aid to schools means that the propaganda of the party in power would be forced upon all schools receiving aid until education came under absolute Federal control.

Signing Away Our Heritage

How does this internationalism show itself in the foreign field?

It shows in the insane insistence by the internationalists that this United States—equal in strength to all of the countries in many respects—shall submit itself to the decisions of the United Nations—that is, of the backward nations. In the Assembly of UN, the United States has just one vote—the same as Haiti, Iceland and other small nations.

No possible good can come to the United States from throwing its resources into a common pot with all other nations, leaving it to the handful of men who control UN to say what part, if any, the United States may get back.

In the Old Testament, Esau is said to have sold his birthright to his brother Jacob for a mess of pottage. But never has a great nation so completely sold out as the UN crowd has persuaded the government of the United States to sell out. We realize some will say that UN and some of the alphabetical agencies have already been ratified by the Congress. Congress may have gone through the motions. But the American people did not ratify them. Ninety-five per cent of the people of the United States knew nothing whatever of what was going on. In effect, the truth was concealed from them by most of the press, by the radio and many of our magazines—much as described in Council Letter 194. The pretext for our joining UN is the representation that it is the only way to avoid war. What will the people of the United States do when they wake up and realize that have been sold out by this international crowd?

Will the revelation by the State Department on July 20, that hundreds of spies have entered the U. S. with UN credentials and are roaming our country at will, with our Government powerless to stop them, wake up the people? Will it even wake up the State Department itself to the menace of UN?

Another Sellout

What will the American people do when they realize they have been deceived into subsidizing the Socialist Parties of Europe through the so-called Marshall Plan?

After the betrayals of Tehran and Yalta and Potsdam, it could be assumed that the United States would not be again taken in by schemes wholly internationalist in their conception and contrary to every interest of the United States.

But we have been taken in again. The Marshall Plan scheme is a device cooked up by internationalist Socialists in Europe.

All of the sixteen so-called Marshall Plan nations have socialist governments. According to the plan and to admissions made within a few weeks by our own Government, even Soviet Russia and the Soviet satellites behind the Iron Curtain may come in any time they meet certain conditions.

Yet Spain, the strongest anti-Communist country in Europe and the country on the Continent to which we could look with the most confidence as an ally in case of trouble between the United States and Soviet Russia, has been refused. The pretext given in Washington has been that it was up to the sixteen Marshall Plan nations themselves to say whether they would admit Spain. That is tantamount to saying we Americans cannot say what is to be done with our own American money! What better proof that the United States Government is today under the control of international Socialism?

Which Way, America?

So we come back to this business of "democracy." Once our Republic was master in its own house. Private property, private enterprise and individual initiative were accepted foundation stones in the national edifice. The American was producer of nothing than to call himself an American—just as a Britisher was and still is, to call himself a Briton.

But throughout the campaign of the left-wingers to sell the American people the idea that they are "a democracy," and that they must "make democracy work," we have steadily gone down hill. We have a debt of 250-odd billions, an annual budget of 40 billions. Our Government has gone into so many different ventures, many of them useless—all or nearly all of them wasteful—that no single mind could possibly envisage all the activities of government. We have let government encroach upon our lives. We have become a nation of form-fillers and signers on innumerable dotted lines. The American Republic is in process of disintegration.

And all at the hands of alien-minded internationalists.

What is the incoming Administration going to do about this?

O'DANIEL SAYS DECADE LONG ENOUGH PERIOD FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

SENATOR SEES ONLY HOPE FOR NATION IS THOROUGH HOUSE- CLEANING IN NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION.

"On May 20th, 1948, I publicly announced that I would not be a candidate for re-election to the United States Senate. I had decided a long time before that date that I would not seek re-election. When my present term expires on January 3, 1949, I will have served the public 10 years. The people of Texas have bestowed upon me the highest honors within their power. They elected me as their governor, and then re-elected me. They elected me as their United States Senator, and then re-elected me. I have defeated a long list of the highest-ranking professional politicians in Texas, many of whom had the active support of the politically powerful New Deal Dynasty in Washington, and the financial support of the radical labor leader racketeers with all their millions of dollars. I am not a politician, never have been, and never will be; yet, thanks to the rank and file of the sound-thinking citizens of Texas, I have never been defeated in any political contest.

"One of the main reasons for my not running for re-election is the fact that I consider 10 years of a man's life a generous contribution to public service. In fact, I believe that every elected federal official should be limited to one term of not more than 6 years. I am thoroughly convinced, after careful study at close range, that the main objective of the vast majority of the elected federal officials is to get themselves re-elected, re-elected and re-elected, and that the terrible condition existing in our federal government today is due primarily to the fact that the vast majority of these officials do the things that will help get themselves re-elected, instead of doing the things that are best for the welfare of our nation.

"Another reason why I do not desire to remain in the Senate for another term is because I can see slight hope of saving our nation from going entirely socialistic or communistic. There are less than a dozen men in the United States Senate who consistently vote to maintain the American form of government willed to us by our forefathers. This was the form of government we had until 1932. The only way, as I see it, to prevent our government going the way of all great nations of the past is for the people to conduct a thorough house cleaning in Washington. This can be done by electing to Congress and to the Presidency an entirely different type of men than are the majority of those now there. The house cleaning, under the rules of the Constitution, must be conducted by the people. It will not be done by a gang of permanent office-holders who think more about holding their jobs than they do about the future of our nation.

"I would gladly lay down my life to save our American form of Constitutional government and our American system of private enterprise which our wise forefathers inaugurated and bequeathed to us, but I cannot contribute anything to the cause by sitting in the United States Senate six more years and voting with a hopeless minority. The people must awaken to the necessity of sending a different type of men and women to Washington to serve them, and then not let them stay there long enough to become contaminated. As a private citizen I shall be glad to work with other private citizens to bring about an improvement in the type of people to be elected to federal positions.

"I am exceedingly proud of my official record and accomplishments. I am stepping out of political life, temporarily at least, but am burning no bridges either behind me or in front of me.

"I have appreciated your communications in the past and shall always be pleased to hear from you at my home address.

Sincerely yours, W. LEE O'DANIEL
United States Senator Texas".

CONNECTICUT WOMAN IS COMMENDED FOR CHALLENGING TAXES

by ALFRED P. HAAKE

A lovely little lady in Connecticut had dared to do what thousands of men wanted to see done but lacked the sheer nerve to do.

It took a woman to challenge the insidious growth of unrestricted Federal power in one place where such a challenge would really hurt.

How far shall the Federal Government be permitted to go in entering our homes and private affairs, perhaps opening our mail and listening to telephone conversations, dipping its fingers illegally into our private purses, or forcing us to serve as government agents and collectors against our will?

Vivien Kellems, vivacious, patriotic and dead-in-earnest women industrialist of Saugatuck, Connecticut, says the Federal Government has already gone too far, and that it is time to test the legality of forcing employers to withhold income from their employees and, as agents or collectors for the government, turn the money over to the Treasury Department.

So she announced in effect that she would no longer be party to violating an important constitutional right. She wrote to the Secretary of the Treasury in Washington, telling him that she would no longer collect the income tax from her employees, and suggested that the Secretary bring legal suit against her in the same orderly fashion in which the Federal Government had cooperated with labor leaders in testing a provision of the Taft-Hartley law.

Miss Kellems kept her word. Her employees made their returns and paid their income tax in accordance with the law. The difference was that Miss Kellems did not withhold the money from her employees and so force them to pay it to the government through her without ever seeing the money they paid in taxes. Instead she paid her employees their entire wages so they could pay their own income taxes—which they did.

But, the government refused to grant Miss Kellems the same consideration it granted to others and also recognize her right to due process of law. Instead, agents of the Federal Government tried to get the Kellems management to sign self-incriminating documents. When that failed, the government coerced the bank in which Miss Kellems' firm deposits its funds, to take employees' withholding tax, plus interest at almost 15 percent, and turn the money over to the government without even going to court or having any semblance of a trial.

The government thus collected the amount of the withholding tax THREE TIMES,—once from the employees themselves and twice from Miss Kellems by coercing the bank to pay it out of her account without the due process of law guaranteed by the Constitution.

This is not a question of whether or not we believe in the income tax, nor a question of expediency in one form or another of collecting the tax. IT IS A QUESTION OF WHETHER ANY CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES SHALL BE SUBJECT TO THE INDIGNITY OF COERCION THAT MARKS A TOTALITARIAN STATE, OR WHETHER EVEN THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT SHALL RESPECT THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES AND SO RECOGNIZE THE RIGHT OF EVERY CITIZEN TO DUE PROCESS OF LAW.

Miss Kellems has rendered the American people a great service at serious risk and cost to herself. She is fighting for a basic principle and has drawn the issue clearly and sharply.

If the American people value their heritage of Freedom and want to stop the cancerous invasion of Federal power into their private lives, they will immediately write to their Congressmen and Senators in Washington and insist that Miss Kellems be given the fair trial she requested of the Secretary of the Treasury, to test the law in our courts.

TRUMAN MAKES DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO COVER UP HIS FOREIGN FAILURES

HOPES TO AVOID REAL ISSUE BY
BLAMING CONGRESS FOR COST OF LIVING AND OTHER
EVILS HE SPONSORED.

(By Congressman Wm. Lemke)

President Truman, finding the people had enough of the Roosevelt-Truman policy, just had to do something desperate. So he called the special session to conceal the international crisis that he and FDR got the Nation into at Tehran, Quebec, Yalta and Potsdam.

The President hopes to avoid the real issue by blaming the Republicans for the high cost of living and the shortage of housing. Surely the President knows that he is largely responsible for shortage of housing and the high cost of living. The high cost of living is due to three things.

First, the printing of thirty billion dollars where we never had six billion before. This money was printed for the cost plussers foreign nations and our internationalists for profits. We know that the depreciated dollar is partly responsible for the high cost of living.

Secondly, we know that high taxes is another cause. Mr. Truman's foreign and domestic policy, takes fifty seven cents on an average out of every dollar we earn on which we pay income taxes. There are one hundred and twenty-five hidden taxes on a pair of overalls.

Finally, we know that when the President gives the taxpayers' money to foreign and domestic grafters and inefficient foreign governments with which to compete with the consumer in our market, that then he is responsible for the high cost of living.

The people know that Congress cannot increase our depleted food supply by passing laws. It cannot increase it by rationing. If the President wants to ration anybody, let him ration the foreign grafters and the foreign nations. The American people have had enough of the foreign lunacy policy.

In regard to the shortage of housing, why not tell the GI's and others that the President built houses for the Italians, for the British and other nation's people? Why not tell them that needed building material, including lumber, furnace piping and well casing, have been and are being shipped to other nations? We know that the President's foreign policy is largely responsible for housing shortage.

The people know that Congress cannot by law increase the building material that the President is shipping to foreign nations. They want to know why he prefers to build homes for foreigners rather than for the GIs that won the war that others started.

The way to end the housing shortage and high cost of living is for Congress to put an end to this stupid foreign policy. Let Congress limit the President's foreign flirtations to our surpluses. Give our people the material they create. Stop giving the taxpayers' money to foreigners to compete with our consumers. That is the only remedy.

CHURCH COUNCIL ADOPTS RESOLUTION ON RIGHTS

CHARGES TRUMAN'S PROGRAM WOULD DESTROY AMERICA'S FUNDAMENTAL LIBERTIES.

The American Council of Christian Churches, an organization formed for fellowship and representation of Fundamental Bible-believing Christians held its annual convention in Atlanta, Ga. During the meeting the delegates assembled from throughout the United States reaffirmed their stand against un-American groups such as the Federal Council of Churches and other red front organizations.

Among other resolutions adopted was one on "Civil Rights" programs that are being presented for enactment into law. The Resolution on Civil Rights as adopted read as follows:

"In the name of 'Civil Rights,' the proposed Civil Rights Program will destroy America's most fundamental civil liberties. The attack upon liberty today has to be made in the name of liberty. It is the satanic angel-of-light approval. This is a stratagem to use the prestige of government to smear and to intimidate those who would oppose that hurtful legislation which the proponents of such measures want.

"It promotes class-consciousness and inspires hate between peoples. It is another step toward the socializing of America. It had its genesis in the Detroit Civil Rights Congress of 1946, where known communists and radical church leaders of the Federal Council initiated the entire program.

"The FEPC, which is recommended as a part of this program, and for which the Federal Council has lobbied in Washington, is a vital part of the communist program at the present stage of their developing blueprint. Free enterprise, the right of the employer to choose, and the right of the employee to work with whom he desires, are substantially abrogated. The employer is legally forbidden to make inquiry of a prospective employee concerning matters which involve the success of his business, and which may have bearing on the security of the entire nation. FEPC, in principle, would be a far-reaching cloak for the shielding of disruptive agents. The solution to these problems is not to be made by an appeal to the police-state, but by the preaching of the Gospel, the presentation of the law of God and the eternal judgments of God upon evildoers. Human relations are not aided by social-gospelers who would place us in an iron vise."

MAKING HIS VOICE HEARD

The non-Catholic director of the library in Sherman, Arkansas, hidden in the remoteness of the Ozark Mountains, wrote to the President, to suggest that "the proposed Christmas stamp bear the picture of Christ instead of the likeness of the fictitious Santa Claus. I'm not reflecting on good old Saint Nick. I just feel that if there ever was a time for greatness—a time to uphold the name and teachings of that Man of Galilee—that time is now." . . . Inspiring, isn't it, to observe how, in a thousand different ways, regardless of how isolated or obscure one may be, he may make his voice heard for Christ.

ANOTHER WAR BEING PLANNED

Another world war is being carefully prepared. Your sons and daughters will be taken out of college, sent to foreign countries and subjected to dangerous elements, both morally and physically. Many will not return and many will return physical wrecks.

People who cannot devote their entire time to study the hidden evil forces believe that this war condition is just happening. This war is being planned by master minds of the Marxist Invisible Government. We are being maneuvered into a position where there must be war but those who cause it will not be blamed. The two theatres are Palestine and Berlin but the planners are in New York and Washington. Such small errand boys as Marshall and Wild Bill Donovan are stumbling along on orders from scheming Marxists. The Marxists want war to complete their control of the United States. They know they have at least six million loyal followers in the United States who will oppose America.

Stalin is playing a game of cards and has thousands looking over Uncle Sam's shoulder. To those who think we are guessing, we suggest they look over our early issues two and one half years ago where we mentioned prominent names who are now known as friends of Communism. If we are getting ready for war these thousands should be put in concentration camps so we can present a United America.

Their front men in Washington are known as Presidential advisors. Today while we are on the verge of war, employees of our State Department in European countries are working hand in hand with communist Russia. We are not guessing. They receive orders from men who also give orders to Marshall and Truman. Of the twenty thousand State Department employees, who have access to valuable information bearing on national defense, how many favor Russia and Communism? A congressional investigation of the State Department should be made at once.
